Description

NADAL Jean-René Pair of Louis XV-period armchairs in molded and carved walnut. The flat backs with basket-handle arms rest on curved legs. Upholstered in pink fabric with floral motifs (shows signs of wear). Both armchairs are stamped. Jean-René Nadal (1733-1783), known as Nadal the Elder. Cabinetmaker and sculptor. Master's certificate obtained on September 22, 1756. Louis XV period, 18th century. Jean-René Nadal was the eldest son of Jean Nadal, a chairmaker, and the daughter of his colleague Jean Cresson. He was also the brother of Jean-Michel Nadal, himself a chairmaker. Nadal took over the workshop on Rue de Cléry--likely after his father's death--and decided to set up shop on the same street under the sign "Lion d'Argent." Throughout his career, he worked
