Description

5 ceramic bowls by the two potters, Jacques Serres and Michel Bargoin. This series was created around 1957; the exterior of the bowls features the colors typically used by both ceramicists--matte brown-green glazes--though the use of bright, glossy colors is rather rare for these two potters. In very good condition, signed, except for the yellow one. (see pages 52-53 of Thomas Leporrier's monograph)
