Description

An elegant 18th-century walnut chest, characterized by a solid structure and refined decorative craftsmanship. The piece features a wide front embellished with shaped frames and moldings, with a central decorative element. The sides are adorned with carved panels and distinctive wrought-iron handles. The top, with its simple and elegant lines, opens to reveal a spacious storage compartment. The chest retains a beautiful antique patina, which enhances its character and authenticity. It is in good overall condition, consistent with its age, showing natural signs of aging and use. It requires conservative restoration to preserve its original features.
