Art Deco-style Ocean Liner-inspired Side Smoking Table, Circa 1930, In Walnut And Chrome

370 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Wallnut

Description

Art Deco-style side table, featuring the ocean liner aesthetic characteristic of the 1930s. Also known as a smoking table, with its side rails to prevent items from falling. It features a rectangular walnut veneer top, adorned with openwork side handles. The base consists of four chrome-plated metal tubes resting on walnut glides. Clean, geometric lines and a warm combination of wood and gleaming chrome: an elegant and functional piece in the modernist spirit of the interwar period. Perfect as an end table or side table in the spirit of the Bauhaus and the ocean liner Normandie. Solid structure. Very good overall condition. Chrome is well-preserved, with a few minor scratches from normal use. Preventative treatment with Xylophène applied under the tabletop (see
