Description

DIONIS - General Treatise on Childbirth, which instructs on everything necessary to become a skilled obstetrician. Liège, published by François Broncard, 1721; 8vo, frontispiece, XXXII-488 pp., contemporary full calf binding, spine decorated with 5 raised bands, edges painted red, title label in red morocco. 3 plates. The author was chief surgeon to the late Dauphines and a sworn master surgeon in Paris. Dionis (1643-1718) taught surgery at the Jardin du Roi in Paris and was the first to publicly perform anatomical dissections and surgical procedures there. In 1680, he became surgeon to Marie-Thérèse of Austria, then to the Dauphines Marie-Adélaïde of Savoy and Marie-Anne-Victoire of Bavaria.
