Description

An elegant Raymond Weil Parsifal ladies' wristwatch, reference 10.290, crafted in solid 18ct yellow gold and embellished with diamonds. The watch has a substantial gross weight of approximately 52.4 grams, with both the rectangular case and integrated articulated bracelet constructed from solid 18ct yellow gold. The stepped rectangular bezel is beautifully set with 36 round brilliant-cut diamonds, arranged within recessed channels around the perimeter of the case. The attractive white mother-of-pearl dial features gold-tone Roman numerals at the 3, 6, 9 and 12 o'clock positions, complemented by eight diamond-set hour markers. Gold-tone hour and minute hands complete the refined dial design, which is signed "RAYMOND WEIL GENEVE" and "Parsifal." A blue cabochon sapphire is inset into the winding crown, providing an elegant contrast against the polished yellow gold case. The watch is fitted with its substantial original-style integrated 18ct yellow gold link bracelet and deployant clasp. The solid gold caseback is engraved with the Raymond Weil model information and bears an 18K / 750 gold purity mark, with corresponding gold assay and hallmark markings present within the clasp mechanism. A particularly luxurious example of the Raymond Weil Parsifal, combining a solid 18ct gold case and bracelet, diamond-set bezel, diamond hour markers and mother-of-pearl dial.
