

Solid Silver Ring With Intertwined Bands -- 1990s, In The Hermès Style

195 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Sterling silver

Description

An elegant vintage ring from the 1990s made of 925/1000 sterling silver, featuring several intertwined bands that create an interplay of curves and volumes. Inspired by the aesthetic of Hermès jewelry, this ring stands out for its sculptural design, fluid lines, and beautiful balance between simplicity and character. The polished rings cross and wrap around one another, creating an effect of movement and depth. Their glossy finish highlights the generous curves of this boldly styled ring. A piece with a decidedly modern look, representative of the 1990s' taste for clean lines, architectural forms, and striking silver jewelry. Easy to wear on its own, this ring is an original and timeless piece.
