

Porcelain Column. Gustavsberg. Sweden, Late 19th - Early 20th Century

1 200 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Porcelain

Length : 42

Width : 42

Height : 99

Description

This monumental porcelain column, crafted by the prestigious Swedish manufacturer Gustavsberg, is a remarkable example of the decorative arts of the historicist period, enriched with distinct references to Neoclassicism. Its architectural composition draws inspiration from ancient orders: the tall cylindrical shaft is punctuated by vertical fluting and rests on a substantial, molded polygonal base. The upper shelf, with its delicately undulating contours, lends the piece a sculptural elegance and perfect architectural balance. This type of porcelain column was designed to showcase large decorative vases, sculptures, planters, or other works of art in reception rooms, aristocratic residences, winter gardens, and stately interiors. The simplicity of its architectural design, its

Dealer

Maison Antiquon

Fine Art & Antiques

Mobile : +33 6 30 17 47 17

Rue de France 48

Nice 06000

monumental proportions, and the exceptional quality of its craftsmanship make it a particularly sought-after decorative piece that blends harmoniously with historicist, neoclassical, or Art Nouveau settings. Markings: Gustavsberg factory mark. Dimensions: Height: 99 cm. Width: 42 cm. Condition: Good collector's condition. Slight signs of age and wear on the top shelf, consistent with the piece's age, which do not affect its aesthetic qualities or its collectible value. ID-ANTQ-2620