Description

A stunning ceramic lamp from the Accolay Pottery, featuring a sculptural shape with a flared neck and a voluminous body with a richly textured finish. It stands out for its glaze in shades of deep brown, ochre, and amber, enhanced by a remarkable geometric design with orange and golden-yellow inlays, punctuated by circular motifs in relief. This expressive piece exemplifies the unique aesthetic of postwar French ceramics, in which experimentation with materials, glaze effects, and organic forms play a central role. A true decorative object, this lamp will look perfect in a 1950s-1960s-style interior, on a console table, a vintage sideboard, or a coffee table. A piece with character for lovers of Accolay ceramics and 20th-century lighting. Period: mid-20th century. Origin: France, Accolay
