

Mummy Of An Evil Cat

485 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Other

Diameter : 50cm

Depth : 9cm

Description

Who hasn't heard of some grim stories involving a picture of a cat? Gobolino, the witch's cat.... Since the dawn of time, it's been said that if this little feline is born with a black coat, terrible things will happen to it--which makes sense, since it brings bad luck.... Even Julius Caesar considered it a bad omen when a black cat crossed his path from "sinistra a dextra," so he had his legionnaires turn back. So why is this cat mummified? From the Middle Ages through the 19th century... It was common practice to wall up a black cat in the foundations of a house to ward off the Devil. I'll spare you the details of the animal's torment. Today, we find them in a completely mummified state following construction work in basements, underground passages, or foundations. This serves to show that Homo

Dealer

Complément d'objets

sciences, ethnical, naturalia, artificialia, didactical items, curiosities

Tel :

Mobile : 00 32 477 450 595

Wemmel 1780

sapiens, the species to which we belong, is not all good...