Description

Daum Nancy French Art Nouveau Cameo and Enameled Glass Violet Bonbonnière, circa 1900 An exquisite and highly collectible French Art Nouveau covered box (bonbonnière) crafted by the renowned glassworks Daum Nancy. Featuring a softly rounded circular form, the box is made of multi-layered acid-etched glass on an opalescent, frosted white ground subtly transitioning to a deep royal blue towards the base. The lid and lower body are delicately hand-painted with realistic blooming violets (pensées / violettes) in shades of purple and mauve, highlighted with fine green foliage and delicate gilded details. A quintessential example of the naturalistic botanicals celebrated by the École de Nancy, displaying remarkable craftsmanship and ethereal colors. Signed "Daum antique condition. The glass itself has no chips, cracks, or restorations. Please note some natural, his-toric surface patina/staining on the edge of the lid (consistent with 120+ years of age and gentle usage, visible in photos), which adds to its authenticity. (Contact us for any close-up
