Description

Gold coin modeled after the Russian 10-ruble coin dated 1767, issued during the reign of Catherine II. Minted in high-purity gold, it reproduces with remarkable precision the proportions and relief of the historical prototype created at the Saint Petersburg Mint. Obverse: Effigy of Catherine II facing right, in imperial regalia, surrounded by the inscription: "???. ??????. II. ??? ? ?????. ??????" Below the portrait are the initials of the mint master, "T.I." (Timofei Ivanov), and the mark "???" Reverse: Imperial double-headed eagle holding the scepter and globe, surrounded by four heraldic cartouches (Muscovy, Kazan, Astrakhan, Siberia). Crown above; circular legend "???. ??? ?????. ???." and the date "1767." Hallmarks: Paris Mint on the edge. PCGS Certificate No. 976663.66 /
