Description

A set of four Limoges fine porcelain mocha cups and saucers, cylindrical in shape (litron style). Each piece features a delicate, hand-painted polychrome design centered on a blooming pink rose and flower buds, accented with garlands of gilded foliage and cornflowers. The handles and rims of the cups are accented with rich gold gilding. Maison Delvaux in Paris: Founded in the 19th century and located at 18 Rue Royale in Paris (just a stone's throw from Place de la Madeleine), Maison Delvaux was one of the most famous and prestigious Parisian houses specializing in luxury tableware. Like other major houses of the time, Delvaux did not manufacture its own white porcelain: it selected very high-quality blanks from the finest manufacturers in Limoges. The company then had these pieces
