Description

Description :Elegant French Empire-style bouillotte table lamp, dating from the first half of the 20th century, circa 1930, featuring richly detailed gilt brass ornamentation and a beautifully contrasting dark green painted metal shade.Inspired by the decorative vocabulary of the French First Empire, this refined lamp is crowned by a finely detailed imperial eagle with outstretched wings, accompanied by a decorative arrow-shaped element, both characteristic of Napoleonic symbolism.The central brass column supports three gracefully curved candle-style light arms, embellished with finely cast foliate scrolls, rosettes and classical motifs. Each arm terminates in an ornamental candleholder fitted with an electric candle socket.The circular brass base incorporates a shallow dished tray, decorated with
