Description

A charming pair of Breton bedside cabinets crafted in solid oak, dating to the early 20th century. Richly decorated with traditional Breton carvings, these cabinets feature a single drawer above a cupboard door, flanked by distinctive bobbin-turned columns. The façades are adorned with carved foliate scrollwork, rosettes, and stylized wheel motifs, while the shaped aprons and carved tops further emphasize their regional character and craftsmanship. With their compact proportions and warm, dark patina, these cabinets offer both decorative appeal and practical storage. Equally suited as bedside tables, end tables, or accent pieces, they bring an authentic touch of French provincial charm to both traditional and eclectic interiors. Good antique condition with wear consistent with age and use. Minor surface
