Description

Antique Persian ring in 18-karat yellow gold - Floral design - Early 20th century
Elegant antique ring in 18-karat yellow gold (750 parts per thousand), of Persian origin (Iran), dating from the early 20th century. Description This ring stands out for its elaborate decorative relief design, combining floral motifs and stylized plant elements characteristic of traditional Persian ornamentation. The upper section features a flower with five finely chiseled petals arranged around a domed, polished center. Beneath this flower is a delicately engraved lanceolate leaf motif, accented by a beaded border and framed by symmetrical openwork scrolls. The alternation of polished surfaces, engraved details, and reliefs lends the piece a rich ornamental quality. The setting consists of a simple band supporting this
