PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Chinese Porcelain Bottle Vase From The Wanli Period, Circa 1620, With Decoration Added Around 18

750 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Porcelain

Description

A Chinese porcelain Wanli bottle vase c.1620 overdecorated c.1820The underglaze blue and white porcelain bottle vase China, Ming dynasty, Wanli Emperor, circa 1600-1620Overdecorated (clobbered) in red, orange and gold presumably c.1820, possibly in Regency EnglandHeight: 27.5 cmProvenance: private collection, The Netherlands*This is a very rare example of a Chinese bottle vase from the Ming dynasty, made during the reign of the Wanli Emperor circa 1600-1620, also known as Kraak porcelain, exported in large numbers to Holland and other countries in Europe. A fashion evolved in Delft and Amsterdam to add extra decoration during the beginning of the eighteenth century to increase their value, of which many examples exist. This bottle vase however is thought to have

Dealer

Red Rose Fine Art
Old Master paintings, drawings and prints, objets d'art and porcelain
Tel : 0031629514501

Gouda 2801P

been extra decorated around 1820 in England during the Regency period. The rim of the neck of the vase has been re-attached and there are some other small damages to the rim. Otherwise good condition. Shipping in Europe: EUR 25