

Victorian Gold Secret Ring - So-called "poison" Ring - 19th Century

2 100 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Gold

Description

Victorian gold secret ring - So-called "poison" ring - 19th century
A rare and original yellow gold secret ring from the Victorian era, 19th century, featuring a particularly elaborate Neo-Renaissance design.
Description
The rectangular setting, finely chased with stylized plant motifs, scrolls, and volutes, forms a small hinged lid that opens to reveal a hidden compartment. The shoulders of the ring are richly adorned with foliage motifs and scrolls in relief, accentuated by an antique patina that highlights the delicacy of the engraving. This type of jewelry, traditionally known as a "poison ring," could be used to store small substances, powders, perfumes, or precious mementos. Its historical name, however, does not necessarily indicate its actual use. A particularly alluring piece of

Dealer

Le sanctuaire des curiosités

Religious Arts - Curiosities - Works of Art - Haute Epoque

Mobile : +32470300329

1 Impasse de la rue des moulins

Tournai 7500

curiosity jewelry, representative of the Victorian taste for secret jewelry and mysterious objects. Characteristics: Period: 19th century, Victorian era (stylistic attribution) Material: yellow gold, fineness to be determined Weight: 5.6 g Size: L 1/2 (UK), equivalent to approximately size 52-53 in French sizing / size 6 in American sizing Hallmarks: no visible hallmarks Distinctive feature: hinged setting opening onto a secret compartment Condition: Beautiful vintage condition, with signs of wear and patina consistent with its age. Please feel free to contact me for any additional information or to request more photos of the items offered for sale.