Description

Important Sculptural Silver-Plated Metal Chandelier - Interlaced Ribbons - 1990' A spectacular contemporary chandelier with a spherical structure, composed of a multitude of wide, silver-plated metal ribbons, curved and intertwined in a swirling motion.This airy, sculptural composition creates a stunning interplay of volumes, curves, and light, giving this light fixture a particularly striking decorative presence.The brushed-finish metal ribbons are arranged around a central structure housing several light sources.When the chandelier is lit, the light diffuses through the interlacing strands, creating magnificent effects of reflections and shadows.Its aesthetic evokes contemporary design creations from the late 20th century, straddling the line between decorative lighting
