intense political and religious conflicts of the 19th century.This copy bears the ex-libris stamp of the Marquis A. T. du Prat (Antoine-Théodore du Prat, 1775-1855), a renowned bibliophile and descendant of the Chancellor to Francis I.This exceptional provenance attests to the quality and state of preservation of these volumes. Such a stamp--known as a mark of provenance or an ex-libris--serves as historical evidence.It indicates that these books once belonged to the private library of the Marquis Antoine-Théodore du Prat.The Marquis Antoine-Théodore du Prat (1775-1855) was a French aristocrat and a direct descendant of the celebrated Chancellor Antoine Duprat (the all-powerful minister to Francis I). The Marquis was a scholar and a passionate collector. He spent a large part of his life reconstructing his family library and amassing a collection of high-quality religious, historical, and literary works. His signature touch: to denote ownership, he would have his personal stamp or coat of arms affixed to the title pages or endpapers of his books.In good condition, commensurate with age and use; please note some yellowed spots on a few pages.
