inclusions, have a uniform color: a red that shifts toward wine-red, with a hint of purple in places. The clips are signed twice--on the body of the piece and on the clasp--proving that they have not been altered since their creation. The substantial gold weight is typical of the 1980s, when gold was still relatively affordable. It provides a secure fit and real volume on the ear, without feeling overly heavy thanks to the flexibility of the scrolls. A meticulously crafted pair that can be worn alone with a simple outfit, allowing the design to take center stage.
