Description

Mid-century Italian dining table in chrome and burl wood, designed by La Metal Arredo, Milan, 1970sA high-quality mid-century table featuring the minimalist design typical of the 1970s and an industrial style, crafted with exceptional attention to detail.The combination of sleek, striking square legs with the warmth of burl wood makes this piece a true eye-catcher.The matte black lacquered base and black dividers accentuate the design.The table features a clever and easy-to-use extension mechanism, making it highly versatile.Since these tables cannot be purchased without scratches or damage to the wood and metal, we have re-lacquered the wood and re-chromed the metal legs.This is a very labor-intensive process that requires at least two different craft workshops capable of performing
