Description

? 8 teak chairs from the '60s and '70s--Charles Mackintosh style--for a large dining table???? Imagine a long, set table, light gliding across the wood, glasses clinking softly... Surrounding it, these 8 teak chairs from the 1960s-1970s stand like a small, elegant army. Their graphic, openwork backs evoke the aesthetic of Charles Rennie Mackintosh, with vertical and geometric lines that structure the space and lend the dining room a real presence.???? Their comfort matches their style. Each seat has been completely refurbished by our master upholsterer: comfortable padding, thick fabric, with a subtle and contemporary pattern. You sit down, and you stay put. There's nothing for you to prepare: the chairs arrive ready to take center stage around your table, whether it's made of solid wood, black metal, or glass.???? The warm honey-colored teak beautifully bears the patina of decades while remaining solid and stable. The high backs (105 cm) elongate the room's silhouette, like a Mackintosh-inspired frieze that complements the table. The wide seat (45 x 42 cm, height 50 cm) accommodates all body types and fits a standard-height table: perfect for meals that go on and on, laughter, and heartfelt conversations.???? Eight chairs promise large, cozy family gatherings: Christmas, birthdays, dinners with friends... No need to mix and match: everything is already harmonious and cohesive, with that very chic '60s-'70s twist. They're also ideal for a bed-and-breakfast or an intimate restaurant looking to offer guests a warm, elegant, and slightly retro atmosphere.????
