Description

An iconic model from Jaeger-LeCoultre, created in 1931, the Reverso has become one of the greatest icons in watchmaking, instantly recognizable for its reversible rectangular case and its distinctly Art Deco aesthetic. Originally designed to meet the needs of polo players, who wanted to protect their watch crystals from impacts during games, it features an ingenious mechanism that allows the case to slide and pivot on its own axis, revealing either the dial or its metal reverse side. This Classic Medium version features an elegant combination of 750/°° (18 KT) yellow gold and steel, whose contrast particularly highlights the case's architecture. Its yellow gold case, with perfectly balanced geometric lines, is accented at its ends by the model's three characteristic horizontal godrons, while its polished steel bezel and lugs add a touch of modernity to the overall design. Its dial features a subtle two-tone composition, combining a light gray background with a cream-colored central section, bordered by a rectangular railway track. The large black Arabic numerals, in the Reverso's signature typeface, offer excellent readability, while the sword-shaped hands complete the watch's graphic harmony. The case back, entirely smooth and crafted from yellow gold, offers a simple, refined surface that contrasts with the geometric design of the dial. This distinctive feature is one of the Reverso's most recognizable hallmarks and contributes fully to the timeless charm of this model. It also offers the option to personalize the watch with an engraving. The watch is mounted on a yellow ostrich leather strap, whose naturally textured surface and luminous color add a bold, contemporary touch to this great classic of watchmaking. However, changing the strap can alter the watch's aesthetic and overall character. It is equipped with an adjustable steel folding clasp, signed by Jaeger-LeCoultre, ensuring a comfortable and secure fit on the wrist. With its harmonious proportions and particularly elegant rectangular case, this Reverso Medium is equally suited for both men and women. A watch with character, combining Jaeger-LeCoultre's watchmaking excellence, the ingenuity of a case that has become legendary, and the timeless elegance of the Art Deco style. The watch is signed on its dials, case back, movement, and folding clasp, and, of course, bears its individual serial number. Presented in perfect condition and fully serviced, we guarantee its proper functioning for one year (except in cases of impact or submersion).
