Description

Louis XVI-style side table This round veneer table, richly decorated with marquetry, draws inspiration from classic 18th-century neoclassical motifs. The tabletop features a radial sunburst pattern in veneer; the contrasting segments highlight burls with a very pronounced grain, framed by a scalloped ring. The curved apron houses a seamlessly integrated drawer, adorned with delicate boxwood moldings, a central diamond-shaped marquetry inlay, and a timeless brass handle. This intricate marquetry extends across the entire width of the apron as well as onto the legs. It rests on slender legs with a tapered square cross-section, adorned with matching linear marquetry. The legs are stabilized by a concave, curved X-shaped crossbar, featuring a matching four-quadrant veneer pattern. 58 cm in
