Description

Antique decorative porcelain plate from the 19th century, with a poly-lobed border, adorned in the center with a portrait of Marie Leszczynska (1703-1768), Queen of France and wife of Louis XV. The portrait depicts the queen in a bust portrait. The rim of the plate features a turquoise-blue background enhanced by elaborate gilded decoration, consisting of floral garlands, scrollwork, and ornamental motifs. Three white-background panels, outlined with gilded foliage, feature finely painted polychrome bouquets of flowers, combining roses, daisies, and small wildflowers. The design is accented by gold fillets and a scalloped border. On the reverse are the handwritten inscription "Marie Lezinska," a blue monogram mark under the glaze, and an old label. A 19th-century piece, in the style of
