Description

A beautiful bookcase in the Louis XV-Louis XVI Transition style, crafted from rosewood, amaranth, and tulipwood marquetry. Decorated with gilded bronze fittings, it features three doors set into a recessed facade. Top made of Aleppo breccia marble with a corbin-style edge. Cavetto cornice; ingot molding decorated with lictor's fasces. Doors and sides feature double panels of four-leaf marquetry, framed by Greek frets. Large central glass-paned door, framed by flowers in the spandrels. Rounded posts with cascading oak leaves and acorns. Arched legs with claw-foot bases. Low, scalloped crossbar with acanthus leaves and an antique-style urn. Lock plates with cascading motifs. Exquisitely crafted piece, made in the Faubourg Saint-Antoine, circa 1880. Mahogany frame and shelves.Buffet-polished in
