Description

Louis XV-era chest of drawers with floral marquetry, featuring two drawers without crossbarsAn elegant, curved Louis XV-era chest of drawers with two wide drawers without visible crossbars, adorned with a remarkable marquetry design of flowers and foliage in warm tones.The dynamic front features a beautiful floral composition extending across both drawers, highlighted by contrasting wooden frames. The curved uprights, rounded sides, and arched legs emphasize the piece's refined lines.The piece is richly adorned with chiseled gilded bronze fittings, including handles, lock plates, corner finials, and a rocaille-decorated lamp base.It is topped with a molded and scalloped marble slab in shades of pink, cream, and violet--likely Pyrenean marble, though this remains to be
