Description

An elegant and beautiful pair of 19th-century alabastro a pecorella urns, now converted to table lamps, of elegant classical proportions and sumptuous colour. Richly figured with the most fabulous colours, the polished stone is complemented by lustrous gilt-metal mounts in the Louis XVI taste. Scrolled handles, laurel swags and ribbon-tied wreaths adorn the ovoid bodies, while acanthus-leaf cradles lead to spreading socles and square plinths raised on delicate gilt feet. Domed covers with beaded gilt borders complete the composition.
