Description

An elegant antique panel made of printed velvet, featuring a refined design of floral bouquets and foliage on a brick-red background with golden-brown hues. The floral motifs are highlighted with metallic thread embroidery, adding depth and brilliance to this decorative composition. Wide borders adorned with botanical motifs harmoniously frame the panel, while the antique tones--a blend of deep red, patinated gold, and blue-green--lend it great character. The hems, finished in the traditional style, bear witness to its history and past use. Dating from the 19th century, this fabric has a remarkable decorative presence. It will look lovely on a tablecloth, a small piece of furniture, or can be displayed as a decorative textile panel. It will also appeal to enthusiasts of antique velvet
