Description

Oil on canvas. This work reflects the styles popularized throughout Europe by Jakob Ferdinand Voet, a Flemish painter who made his name primarily as a portraitist and whose influence was widely felt among artists of his own time and in subsequent periods. His half-length portraits focus all attention on the subject, who stands out against a neutral, dark background. The portrait of a noblewoman presented here has previously undergone restoration and re-lining. It is displayed in a modified antique frame.ARARPI0284085
