Description

Horizontal octagonal sundial with the artist's name and its location in Picardy, in the Aisne department, in 1880. The original brass gnomon, secured with through screws, features geometric cutouts. The hour lines and graduations are very finely engraved with Arabic numerals for the hours and orientation arrows. The slate has been damaged, with a chip on its left edge and a small chip on the right--damage caused by the slate's fragility when subjected to impact or freezing temperatures. Width 28 cm - height 12 cm - slate thickness 2 cm
