Description

1950s Amber-Colored Murano Glass Venetian Chandelier, Four Lights An antique circular pendant lamp made of blown glass in the Art Deco style, reminiscent of Venini's creations from the first half of the 20th century. This antique amber-colored glass chandelier features four arms arranged in two different tiers and an equal number of chains composed of ovoid elements.An elegant vintage four-light chandelier crafted entirely by hand according to the tradition of the Murano master glassmakers. The central body features a spherical vase or bowl shaped from blown glass in an exclusive shade of light, transparent amber, which lends the piece a delicate, luminous allure and refined simplicity.Four curved arms of two different sizes extend from the central structure, supporting
