A floor lamp made of translucent resin in shades of red, orange, and amber, mounted on a black iron frame. The panel features intricate relief work composed of abstract organic shapes. The resin has a crackled texture that is very characteristic of 1970s fractal resin creations. When lit, the interior lighting reveals the full depth and nuances of the resin and diffuses a beautiful, warm orange glow. The light fixture has 3 sockets inside, providing even lighting throughout its entire height. Black iron frame and base. On/off switch on the cord. A beautiful decorative piece, particularly striking whether lit or unlit, ideal for a vintage, brutalist, or contemporary interior. Condition: Good condition, slight signs of wear, electrical components are functional and in good condition. Height: 150 cm Width: 40
