Description

An elegant, neoclassical-inspired rectangular coffee table featuring a gold-plated brass frame, four transparent legs, and two glass tops. Its balanced design combines the decorative richness of brass with the lightness of glass. The column-shaped legs are adorned with volute capitals and rest on flared brass bases. Slender crossbars accentuate the piece's geometric lines. The two glass tops provide a practical space for books, magazines, and decorative objects. The piece features a brass patina and signs of wear visible in the photographs, which contribute to its vintage character. The glass shelves give it an elegant and airy presence, suitable for a classic, eclectic, or contemporary interior.
