Description

Rare small sideboard--a small cabinet with four doors--made of solid walnut. This charming little piece, dating from the early 17th century, rests on two square-section rear legs and two ball-shaped front legs, all topped with molding. The front features four doors arranged in two rows; in the center, two drawers framed by three small consoles with acanthus decoration enhance the overall design. The front is also adorned with six vertical feather motifs on the side panels, as well as on the door frames. The sides of the cabinet are paneled in the same style as the doors. The interior is fully upholstered and decorated with attractive geometric patterns featuring a braided and studded finish. A rare piece on the market due to its small size (height 142 cm) and its exceptional condition for its era. Single-piece
