Kilim Chuval. Maras Region / Anatolia. Circa 1900. 160 X 83 Cm. Rug

680 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Wool

Length : 160 cm

Width : 83 cm

Description

This piece is a tchouval from Maras, located in southern Anatolia. The tchouval is a large carrying bag used by nomadic peoples to store and transport grain. It can therefore be classified among the broad category of everyday objects--designed primarily for practical use, yet revealing remarkable craftsmanship in this piece.The weaving is meticulous, extremely precise, and even. You notice it immediately, but it's only when you touch it that you truly appreciate its quality. The piece is both light and supple, and the wool, of very high quality, is extremely soft. This is a rather rare sensation for an object of this nature.And then there is the radiance of the colors, with an obvious harmony. On the embroidered section, the white shapes, made of cotton, highlight the patterns and create

Dealer

Beauty of Kilims
Kilims anciens Moyen-Orient et Caucase
Mobile : 0642617346

8 rue Perchepinte
Toulouse 31500

vivid contrasts. The indigo blues complement the oranges--ranging from the brightest to the most coppery--while the saffron yellow and olive green add their own nuances. Everything is luminous, and each hue seems to find its natural place, with perfectly mastered precision.Tchouval, Maras region, southern Anatolia woven and embroidered, wool on woolplant-based dyescirca 1900Dimensions: 160 x 83 cmPerfect condition, flawlessChoosing an antique rug or textile is often a serendipitous encounter. If one of our pieces catches your eye, or if you'd like more information or photos, I'd be happy to discuss it with you.Laurent ConsulBeauty of Kilims06 42 61 73 46