Description

The early 19th century saw the art of the miniature--once reserved for the aristocracy--gain popularity among the bourgeoisie, a trend that had begun several years before the revolution.This elegant portrait depicts a charming young boy richly dressed in a jacket with puffed sleeves and a cap.The quality of the clothing makes this a remarkable record of the fashion of the 1820s and 1830s.The watercolor drawing is beautifully executed; it is the work of a professional miniaturist.It is mounted in its elegant original frame, which is in good condition for its age, with minor signs of wear.
