designs, knotted with great finesse and high-quality wool.It's hard to imagine the immense amount of work that went into knotting such a marvel.The quality of these pieces speaks for itself; the workmanship is fine, precise, and durable.The materials used are of the highest quality, ensuring that these rugs remain in excellent condition even 40 to 50 years later.This rug is clean; the wool is soft, beautifully knotted, and tightly woven.It reveals shades full of contrast and a wide array of colors.Large floral motifs set against a deep red field.It is bordered by bouquets and regular cartouches.A traditional wool rug, comfortable and suitable for high-traffic areas.The shades highlight this skillful floral design in the grand tradition of Persian art--a tradition also found in Mughal art--inspired by the miniatures of the Tabriz school, then the capital of the Persian Empire, but completely reimagined in the mid-20th century.Indeed, the Persian rug trade has existed for several centuries, and commercial pressures--particularly European and American demand--have led workshops to adapt to the requirements of their patrons since the sixteenth century.## For your information:Tabriz (Azerbaijani: T?briz/?????, formerly Tauris) is the capital of East Azerbaijan Province, in northwestern Iran (Iranian Azerbaijan).
