

Light Oak Chest Of Drawers With Fluted Half-columns. Empire Style, 19th Century

880 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Oak

Length : 126cm

Height : 86cm

Depth : 58cm

Description

A 19th-century chest of drawers in the Empire style, crafted from solid oak, featuring a pleasant light color and beautiful natural grain. The front features three drawers, including a slightly shorter top drawer accented by horizontal molding. The front is framed by two engaged half-columns resting on straight, square-sectioned legs, characteristic of Empire-style furniture. The drawers are adorned with decorative keyholes and brass pull knobs. The rectangular top, which extends slightly beyond the sides, features a beautiful oak surface. The traditional dovetail joints attest to the piece's meticulous craftsmanship. This chest of drawers was restored by a professional cabinetmaker, respecting its antique character. It is now in excellent condition, with a lovely patina that highlights the oak's

Dealer

GRF Antiquités

Généraliste

Mobile : 0628589727

1 rue des 2 ponts

Bacouel-sur-Selle 80460

nuances and grain. An elegant and authentic piece of furniture with balanced proportions that fits equally well in both classic and contemporary interiors. Period: Early 19th century Style: Empire. Wood: Light oak. Condition: Restored by a cabinetmaker. Dimensions: Height: 86 cm; Width: 126 cm; Depth: 58 cm Shipping within Metropolitan France: EUR180. Contact us for more information