Description

A rare and amusing Viennese bronze depicting two dogs playing table tennis, each holding a racket on either side of a small table equipped with a net. The scene, particularly lively and detailed, follows in the tradition of humorous Viennese bronzes from the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Marked "KK" on the base, a monogram associated with Carl Kauba (1865-1922). Viennese work, circa 1900. Very good overall condition. Some slight wear to the patina and polychrome, consistent with its age.
