Description

With its slender polygonal shape, this beautiful tea fountain rests on three curved legs made of thick porcelain. A porcelain Kraanjespot / tripod samovar with Imari decoration, dating from the 19th century. It is a true curiosity for any collector's cabinet, highly original due to its samovar shape. This beautiful piece draws direct inspiration from the traditional Dutch shape of coffee pots, but has been reinterpreted in ceramic using the famous Japanese-inspired palette of cobalt blue and iron-red glazes, accented with gold...
