Chickens By Manzana Pissaro

Description

First proof (1/100), stenciled on a gold background, signed lower right and numbered. This stencil print by Manzana Pissaro depicts three hens in a stylized garden, rendered in a harmonious palette of deep greens, soft blues, and velvety blacks, accented with touches of bright red on the hens' combs. One can discern a Japanese influence and a graphic simplification characteristic of 20th-century modern aesthetics. Manzana Pissaro (born in 1903), a member of the famous Pissarro family, follows in the artistic tradition inherited from Camille Pissarro while developing her own personal style. Her work is distinguished by a marked preference for intimate scenes, animal subjects, and decorative compositions with clean lines. Period frame, circa 1930. (Small chips in the corners of
