Description

Pair of zoomorphic bronze lizard candlesticks in the style of Antoine Louis Barye, 19th centuryA masterpiece of 19th-century French craftsmanship, this pair of candlesticks is extraordinary.Their form evokes the penchant for zoomorphism in 19th-century Neoclassicism, a trend pioneered by major sculptors such as Antoine Louis Barye, whose artistic essence is captured in this pair, with the lizard winding its way along the bamboo-shaped shaft.It is a true little masterpiece of 19th-century French craftsmanship, featuring solid, artistic bronze cast from high-quality material and a design combining a goat's leg, climbing lizards, and a basket-shaped candle holder adorned with foliage motifs. They will be perfect for a 19th-century bronze collection.Fast and careful shipping to
