

Louis XVI-period Mahogany Half-moon Table With Frame, Circa 1780

1 800 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Mahogany

Description

Louis XVI-Period Mahogany Half-Moon Table with Extension Mechanism, circa 1780. Exquisite Half-Moon Table with Extension Mechanism, Serving as a Console Table, Game Table, and Round Table in Mahogany and Mahogany Veneer, Louis XVI Period, Resting on Tapered Legs with Fluted Shafts Inlaid with Gilded Brass, Terminating in Gilded Bronze Feet and Casters. This ingenious table with three trays can first, when closed, serve as a console table; then, with its second tray extended, provide a round table; and finally, with its third tray extended, reveal a game table. Its first and second trays are made of mahogany, and its third tray is lined with a lovely green felt. Beautiful and rich gilded bronze and brass ornamentation, such as fluted bands, casters, feet, frames, and rings. Each of its

Dealer

DANTAN

Mobilier et objets XVIIIème, XIXème, XXème

Mobile : 06.81.50.13.37

Arras 62000

trays is edged with a gilded brass molding. The wallet tray rests, when open, on a retractable support leg with a drawer concealed beneath the rim. Beautiful wood grain and a varnished finish. Parisian furniture of exceptional craftsmanship, featuring elegant and refined lines. This table combines practical utility--thanks to its great versatility--and is also ideal for small interior spaces; it will easily adapt to your decor. It also makes a stunning visual statement with its harmonious and delicate curves and its carefully selected mahogany wood. With its ingenious design, this piece embodies the refinement of Louis XVI-era furniture and will enhance your home. Parisian craftsmanship from the Louis XVI era, 18th century, circa 1780. Dimensions: Closed Height: 77.5 cm Depth: 54.5 cm Width: 109 cm Table Open Height: 74.5 cm Diameter: 109 cm Game Table Height: 72 cm Diameter: 109 cm In Excellent Condition. We are available to provide any additional information. WWW.DANTAN.STORE