Description

An elegant bronze lamp with a brown patina, circa 1920, adorned with a remarkable sculptural design featuring an elephant, full-length figures, and a male figure at the top. An exotic and richly crafted composition, fitted with electricity, offering a unique decorative presence.This lamp stands out for its vertical composition and its finely chiseled relief decoration. The circular base features an engraved ornamental frieze and supports a full-relief elephant, whose trunk and tusks contribute to the expressive character of the piece.Above, several figures are arranged in an architectural composition, some appearing to support a circular platform adorned with plant motifs. A male figure with crossed arms crowns the composition, while the metal stem extends all the way to the brass light fixture.Electrically
