Silver Pitcher, France, Empire Period.

1 600 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Sterling silver

Height : 28,5 cm

Description

Silver pitcher with zoomorphic spout - early 19th century Silver pitcher from the Empire period, resting on three claw feet with palmette-decorated mounts.The body, shaped like an ovoid baluster, is accented at the shoulders by a frieze of water leaves. The zoomorphic spout ends in a finely chiseled horse's head. The tall, flared neck is edged with a frieze of heart-shaped motifs. The side handle, made of wood and elegantly carved in the shape of a crook, is attached at its lower end to a clasp adorned with an antique-style female mask. The hinged lid is topped with a knob shaped like a fruit bud.950/1000 silverRooster hallmark. Paris hallmarks, 1809-1819.Master silversmith : Jean-Nicolas Boulanger, admitted as a master in Paris in 1783.Dimensions and weight:Height: 28.5 cm

Dealer

Lucas L&E
Argenterie ancienne, Arts liturgiques, Arts Russes, Arts de la tables
Mobile : 0615687757

Maisons-Laffitte 78600

Length: 18.5 cm Gross weight: 718 gVery good overall condition, with no restoration or damage to note. The pin securing the handle may have been replaced. Interior is clean.