Description

Oil on canvas signed "Nicolas Moreau" in red in the lower left corner.This work likely dates from the late 20th century.The still life features several ceramic pieces decorated with floral and bird motifs, arranged on a table covered with a light-colored tablecloth featuring a red border and gold fringe.A pitcher with a long spout, a large covered vase, and various containers make up the arrangement, accented by pomegranates placed on a bowl and on the tablecloth.The light highlights the forms of the ceramics, their decorations, and the folds of the fabric, while the dark background lends depth to the composition.Nicolas Moreau is listed as a 20th-century still-life painter.Auction catalogs mention solo exhibitions.Galerie Kenza in ParisCarré d'Or in
