Description

Rectangular console table in waxed walnut. The legs are turned into balusters and joined by an H-shaped crossbar. A spindle adorns the center. A large drawer opens at the front; a blackened groove forms a geometric pattern. Below, the neatly carved crossbar is adorned with spindles. Beautiful tabletop, molded on three sides, likely reused as indicated by the visible dowels, which correspond to a former frame. Restoration as needed. Height: 74cm Width: 60.5cm Length: 98 cm Provenance: Southern France, Languedoc Period: 18th century Free shipping within a 50-km radius of my location; otherwise, shipping via carrier at the customer's expense.
