Its curved profile, known as Curvex, naturally follows the curve of the wrist, ensuring a comfortable fit while maintaining the case's bold presence.The dial, protected by sapphire crystal, is one of this watch's most captivating features. Its sunburst satin finish reveals subtle iridescent hues whose tones shift depending on the nature and direction of the light. Deep anthracite gray under cool light, it warms to shades of maroon, chocolate, and champagne under warmer lighting.This rich play of colors, subtle at first glance, gradually reveals itself with the movement of the wrist, giving the dial a unique depth and presence. The circular effects visible in some photographs result exclusively from reflections of the lighting used to highlight these color variations. In reality, the dial has a perfectly uniform surface, free of marks or imperfections, whose iridescent finish retains all its subtlety.Twelve applied metal baton hour markers, paired with two sword-shaped hands, create a particularly understated and legible display. Their slender design accentuates the dial's geometry without disrupting its play of light. The Boucheron signature appears at 12 o'clock, while the "Swiss Made" inscription is located at 6 o'clock.The watch is mounted on its original lizard-skin strap, whose naturally grained texture and shades of golden khaki, brown, and bronze harmoniously complement those of the dial. This combination of warm and cool tones creates a particularly cohesive whole, in which the strap plays a full part in the watch's aesthetic identity.It is fitted with its original steel pin buckle, engraved with the Boucheron signature.Powered by a Swiss quartz movement, this Reflet Icare combines the precision and ease of use of a contemporary watch with the timeless design of the house's timepieces.With its proportions, the quality of its finishes, and the subtlety of its color combinations, this Boucheron Reflet Icare offers a design that is at once understated, masculine, and refined.It comes with its original Boucheron case and outer box.This
